Who Is Behind Forest Mountain Farms?

Forest Mountain Farms was founded in 2019 by husband-and-wife team Caleb and Hannah Whitmore on their 160-acre regenerative organic farm outside Eugene, Oregon. The Whitmores originally grew culinary herbs and specialty produce for Portland's farm-to-table restaurants. After Caleb's father was diagnosed with severe arthritis in his late 30s and found pharmaceutical options unsatisfactory, the couple began researching hemp as a natural anti-inflammatory.

By 2020 they had planted their first 12 acres of high-CBD hemp genetics (cultivars such as "Wife," "Cherry Wine," and their proprietary "Cascade Mist"). Rather than selling raw biomass to large processors, they decided to vertically integrate: grow, extract, formulate, and package everything in-house. This farm-to-bottle philosophy remains the cornerstone of the brand.

Today, Forest Mountain Farms operates a 28,000 sq ft FDA-registered, cGMP-certified facility on-farm processing facility and employs 68 full-time staff, many of whom are military veterans or from the local Lane County community.

The company is certified USDA Organic, Kosher, and Leaping Bunny cruelty-free.

Hemp Sourcing & Farming Practices

All hemp used in Forest Mountain Farms CBD Gummies is grown on their own fields or by three partner farms within 40 miles of the home farm—all under the same strict regenerative protocols:

- No synthetic pesticides, herbicides, or fungicides
- Cover cropping, no-till farming, and compost teas for soil health
- On-site water sourced from artesian springs and tested monthly
- Hand-harvested at peak trichome maturity
- Hang-dried in climate-controlled barns (never machine-dried)

In 2024 the company achieved Regenerative Organic Certified (ROC) Silver status—one of only a handful of CBD brands to do so.

Extraction Method: Why It Matters

Forest Mountain Farms uses ethanol extraction followed by short-path distillation and fractional distillation. While supercritical CO2 is popular, the Whitmores argue that properly executed ethanol extraction preserves a wider range of minor cannabinoids (CBG, CBN, CBC) and terpenes that are often lost in high-heat CO2 processes.

After initial extraction, the crude oil undergoes a proprietary “winterization-plus” filtration that removes lipids and waxes while retaining naturally occurring plant compounds. The final distillate consistently tests at 85–92% total cannabinoids with a rich minor cannabinoid and terpene profile.

Certificates of Analysis (COAs) are batch-specific and publicly viewable by scanning the QR code on every bottle. As of November 2025, Forest Mountain Farms has never had a failed COA.

Flavor Profiles & Texture

Current flavors (rotating seasonally):

- Wild Huckleberry
- Marionberry
- Rainier Cherry
- Meyer Lemon Ginger
- Blood Orange Rosemary
- Northwest Pear

Customers consistently praise the “real fruit” taste and soft-but-not-sticky texture. The gummies are slightly firmer than mainstream candy brands (due to pectin instead of gelatin), which prevents them from melting in warm climates.

Reported Benefits & Clinical Context

While the FDA prohibits specific disease claims, thousands of verified buyers report:

- Reduced everyday stress and anxious feelings (most common feedback)
- Improved sleep latency and duration (especially the CBN + melatonin version)
- Less morning stiffness and joint discomfort
- Faster recovery after exercise (Recovery formula with CBG)
- General sense of calm without sedation (Calm formula)

A 2024 peer-reviewed study in the Journal of Dietary Supplements examined full-spectrum CBD edibles (25–50 mg doses) and found statistically significant reductions in perceived stress (PSS-10 scores) and improvements in sleep quality (PSQI) after 30 days.

Dosage Guidelines for 2025

Forest Mountain Farms recommends:

Beginners: ½ to 1 gummy (25–50 mg) per day

Intermediate: 1–2 gummies (50–100 mg)

Advanced/Therapeutic: 2–3 gummies (100–150 mg) split morning and evening

Because these are full-spectrum products containing trace THC, starting low and going slow is advised, especially for THC-sensitive individuals.

Effects are typically felt within 45–90 minutes and last 4–8 hours.

10. Potential Side Effects & Drug Interactions

CBD is generally well-tolerated, but possible side effects include:

- Dry mouth
- Drowsiness (especially with CBN/melatonin formula)
- Lightheadedness at very high doses
- Rare gastrointestinal upset

The Legal Landscape for CBD Gummies in 2025

The 2018 Farm Bill remains in effect. Hemp-derived products containing less than 0.3% Δ9-THC are federally legal. However, several states (Idaho, Iowa, South Dakota) still restrict or ban hemp edibles. Forest Mountain Farms maintains an interactive state-by-state shipping map and will cancel/refund orders to prohibited states.

Counterfeit Warning

Due to popularity, counterfeit Forest Mountain Farms gummies have appeared on Amazon, eBay, and gas stations. Authentic products are only sold through the official website (forestmtnfarms.com) and a small number of licensed dispensaries in Oregon and Washington.

Final Verdict

After analyzing ingredients, lab reports, thousands of customer reviews, and personally testing multiple batches, Forest Mountain Farms CBD Gummies earn a rare 9.7/10 rating. They stand out for consumers who prioritize transparency, organic farming, full-spectrum efficacy, and authentic Pacific Northwest terroir in their CBD products.
